Blake Theisen, from Ayers Associates reviewed the previous meeting's direction and presented three and one-half conceptual renderings for the committee's review. Mr. Theisen went over each rendering and received feedback from the committee. The committee:

- preferred a combination of the rendering #1 and #2 with the parking lot located to the north.
- liked the idea of the tall slides and bathhouse being located closest to Central Avenue to create the best curb appeal.
- decided to eliminate the drop slides, but keep two pool vessels, and add a toddler slide to the zero-depth area and incorporate a lazy river/current channel.
- wanted to see the toddler play feature moved to the central part of the zero-depth area.
- wanted to add the diving boards and basketball hoops to the large main pool vessel.
- preferred to have large tube slides be runout slides and not drop-in slides.
- liked the idea of the open air shelters for possible rentals.
